Re Los Angeles airtel to Seattle and Portland,
dated 1/4/74.

Enclosed for Los Angeles and Seattle are two copies each of an insert disclosing investigation at Eugene, Oregon by SA [redacted] Receiving offices should note that the 1972 Chrysler Imperial referred to on page 8 of referenced airtel bearing Oregon license [redacted] and the 1972 Chrysler Imperial on page 26 of referenced airtel bearing California license [redacted] and the 1972 Chrysler Imperial in enclosed insert could very possibly be identical. It should be further noted that the vehicle identification number was recorded by Barker employees as well as the license plate when the warranty work was done on 1/21/72. From that positive determination, it must be identical with the 1972 Chrysler Imperial bearing California license [redacted] on page 26 of referenced airtel. Since Oregon license [redacted] registered to [redacted] found on page 8 of referenced airtel has vehicle identification number of [redacted] a bad VIN, it can be further assumed that the true VIN is the one determined by Barker Motors.

perpetrators of the hijacking were [redacted]

1) [redacted] was an enlisted man in the United

3) [ ] was financially in dire circumstances, would not let the legality of anything stand in the way of making money, and was intelligent enough to concoct plans for the hijacking.

4) About one and a half years ago [ ] visited at his home in Redlands, California, for over a month. During a discussion of finances [ ] made a comment, [ ]

SKULL NOT LIKELY TO BE HIJACKER'S

OREGON CITY, Ore. (AP)—A weathered human skull found in the Mt. Hood National Forest has been examined to see if it could belong to a skydiving hijacker known as D. B. Cooper. But authorities said it probably was not Cooper's.

Dr. Larry Lewman, deputy Oregon medical examiner, said Saturday that the skull appeared to be that of a white male in his 30s. Cooper was believed to be in his late 40s or early 50s.

The FBI said the flight pattern and winds the night of the hijacking more than three years ago also made it improbable that the skull could be that of the skyjacker.

A man using the name of D. B. Cooper hijacked a Northwest Airlines jet Thanksgiving eve, 1971, and parachuted out with $200,000 in ransom. He was never found and the money was never recovered.

If Cooper survived the jump, he is the only domestic hijacker who has not been captured or killed. The statute of limitations will run out on the crime in two years.

The skull was found east of Estacada Thursday by a hiker and turned over to the Clackamas County sheriff's department.

The idea that the skull could belong to Cooper spread when the man who found the skull reported seeing a parachute in a nearby tree.

A sheriff's deputy confirmed that there was a parachute in the tree, but he said authorities had been aware of the chute for some time and that it appeared to be from weather instruments.

"I think this will turn out to be one our lost hunters, and it could be from out of state," the deputy said. "We may have a whale of a time finding out who he is, if we ever do."

Parachute, Skull Found Near Hijack Jump Area

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A skull found near a weathered parachute in Mt. Hood National Forest is the newest clue in the three-year search for the infamous skyjacker "D.B. Cooper."

A man calling himself by that name parachuted from a low-flying jetliner on Thanksgiving eve, 1971, with $200,000 in ransom money strapped to his chest. Neither he nor the money was ever seen again.

South of the suspected jump area authorities Thursday found the skull believed to be that of a person in his early 30s. A parachute was in a nearby tree at the site 10 miles east of Estacada, Ore., Dr. Larry Lewman of the state medical examiner's office said Friday.

"That naturally led us to wonder whether the skull might be Cooper's," Lewman said.

An FBI spokesman said he doubted the man who hijacked a Boeing 727 on a flight from Portland to Seattle, Wash., could have landed where the skull was found. He said the flight pattern and winds on the night of the hijack "seem to rule out" the location.

Earlier FBI investigations turned up parachute harnesses and skulls in the suspected jump area. None has helped agents find Cooper or the missing $200,000. Lewman said he put the FBI onto the skull after he heard about the parachute.

"I understand that kids in the area have been trying to shoot the parachute out of the tree for about three years," the doctor said. "When the snow melts, we can go up there and find more bones and maybe a billfold that will tell us his name."

Conditions were poor for a jump when "Cooper," dressed in oxfords and a business suit, plummeted into the cold air. Investigators have subsequently agreed with the opinion of an FAA regional security chief:

"One of these days some hunter in Oregon or Washington is going to find the skeleton of this man screwed into the ground up to the elbows."

MYSTERY SKULL — Dr. Larry Lewman, assistant state medical examiner in Portland, Ore., examines skull found by Forest Service employees in Mt. Hood National Forest 10 miles east of Estacada, Ore. Authorities are investigating to determine if the skull is that of D. B. Cooper, who hijacked a Northwest Orient Airlines plane in November, 1971, and parachuted from plane while enroute to Reno, Nev. from Seattle. Cooper and $200,000 he got from Northwest Orient were never found. (UPI Telephoto)

Re Milwaukee teletype to Bureau dated 10/8/75.

Enclosed for the Bureau, Milwaukee, and Seattle is one xerox copy of map drawn by Bureau Agents concerning area near Barker Dam in Joshua Tree National Monument. Also enclosed is one photograph depicting area shown on map.

On the afternoon of 10/8/75, six Special Agents equipped with Bureau metal detectors conducted a search of the area as described by [redacted] without locating any evidence of buried ammunition cans. These Agents remained on the site the night of 10/8/75 and resumed search at sunrise 10/9/75. They were joined by nine U. S. Marine Corps personnel equipped with Marine Corps metal detectors and entire area depicted on map was searched three separate times. Numerous metal items, such as nails, horse shoes, beer cans, etc., were located below the ground surface and dug up, however, again no ammunition cans or loot was located. Additional photographs of area were taken and are being processed. From explicit directions originally given by [redacted] it is obvious that this is the area he was describing. It is also apparent that he is completely familiar with the area. The only discrepancy in [redacted] is that there are seven concrete slabs located in the parking lot instead of five as [redacted] originally stated.

Recently in connection with the Norjak case, the Department of Justice has been attempting to determine if the Federal Statute of Limitations (five years) will apply to the unknown subject of captioned hijacking, and if in fact it does apply, then is it at this time, feasible to consider obtaining a "John Doe" indictment.

In an effort to completely review all pertinent evidence obtained and determine its present value if unknown subject was identified and brought to trial now or within the last three to five years, as well as, to determine if there is enough individually identifiable information in our possession to have a basis for obtaining a "John Doe" indictment, a Norjak conference will commence April 8, 1976, 8:30 a.m., at the SFO.

All receiving offices will send appropriate representatives insuring they possess complete knowledge of all investigative aspects of captioned case conducted within their respective division and a general overall insight into all investigation conducted to date. Each representative will be expected to offer suggestions as to new directions in which this investigation might proceed and/or furnish information to insure that all logical investigation has been conducted. It is absolutely necessary that we insure all investigative avenues have been 100 per cent exhausted.

information he could not supply.

There is a possibility that I will be the D.B. Cooper Nov. 24, 1971 Northwest Airlines hijack.

Am I correct that this coming Nov. 24
Cooper, if still living, will be home free under which statute of limitations?

If so, at what hour and date will it be effective?

What will be the effect of it? Will he be free from arrest and prosecution?

Also, will the $200,000 become his,
to spend freely and without further attempts of recovery by Federal, airline, bank or insurance agencies?

Am I correct that under a Minnesota
Supreme Court 1975 ruling Northwest Airlines' insurance company reimbursed the airline for $180,000 of the $200,000? If so, why just $180,000? And, what was/is the status of the unreimbursed $20,000?

At the effective moment of the Statute of Limitations will your office and the FBI both 'close' the case? Fully, or in what respects?

I understand that in seeking leads on the $200,000 your office, or FBI, circulated 34 pages of ransom note bill numbers. Have any of the bills appeared, anywhere?

Representatives from receiving offices were in attendance at the Norjak seminar held at San Francisco, 4/8-9/76, where a suggestion was made to institute a publicity campaign for release in early November, 1976, widely publicizing a reward for any twenty-dollar bill turned in from the ransom list published in various media periodicals and possible local newspapers. This suggestion was approved at FBIHQ and efforts to initiate appropriate groundwork steps are now being taken.

Receiving offices should, at this time, contact major newspapers within their Divisions in an effort to determine if first they would participate in this publicity venture by printing on a one-time, daily, or weekly basis the list of ransom bill serial numbers and second if they agree to printing these, is there a particular form in which the numbers could be provided to facilitate easier printing of same. Newspaper officials should be advised that calls from individuals concerning the fact that they possess a twenty-dollar bill of interest will be directed to the nearest FBI Office.

Seattle should immediately set out leads for Minneapolis to contact officials at Northwest Airlines in an effort to determine their interest in possibly providing the necessary reward money, which could be $5,000 for the first bill turned in or $1,000 each for the first five bills turned in. Final determination re reward offer is being left to the discretion of Seattle and, of course, Minneapolis based on Northwest's receptiveness to this campaign effort. If Northwest is not particularly interested in becoming reinolved, Seattle should consider contacting other possible donor sources to the reward offer. It is felt that several organizations might be interested in the publicity that could be obtained by offering a reward of this type, however, discretion should be utilized in the choices considered and Seattle should advise the Bureau prior to accepting a source other than Northwest.

Seattle should also obtain a list of all publications previously utilized for publicity in this case, as well as, parachute associate publications, pilot publications, numismatic magazines and others that might possibly be interested in publishing serial number listings. The name and place of publication should be obtained so that at the appropriate time leads can be set out to offices covering the place of publication instructing them to make contact and request their assistance.

Seattle will prepare for eventual dissemination, an all SAC airtel requesting field-wide assistance in the contacting of local area newspapers to ask for their participation in this program. A brief synopsis of facts surrounding captioned matter should be prepared and submitted to FBIHQ for approval. This synopsis will then be included in the all SAC airtel and will be afforded interested newspapers as a lead-off story in the printing of ransom list serial numbers.

It is imperative for this program to be at all effective that we insure that the maximum amount of publicity is obtained. Therefore, if receiving offices have additional suggestions as to how this can be accomplished, they should promptly submit same to the Bureau and Seattle.

'Malabar VII' may be getaway boat

At a waterfront bar in Papeete, Tahiti, I heard one of the most bizarre sea stories of our time.

Would you believe that D. B. Cooper, who bailed out of a Western Airlines plane five years ago with a fortune in cash, may be cruising the world's oceans aboard John Alden's "Malabar VII" from Dolphin Marina?

"It's our favorite fantasy," yacht broker Dan Streech of Dana Point said, explaining how "Malabar VII," which left Marina del Rey in 1970, may be involved in the still-unsolved mystery of Cooper's successful heist.

(Cooper parachuted from an airplane over Oregon/California after successfully pulling off one of the most imaginative robberies in history, and neither he nor the money has ever been found. A current rumor among airline pilots has it that a few months ago an old parachute was discovered hanging on a tree in the area where "Cooper," as he called himself, may have landed.)

del Rey in October, 1970, settling into a boat at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, after cruising down the Mexican coastline, through the Panama Canal and exploring the coastline of Venezuela and Colombia and the islands of the British West Indies and the Bahamas aboard the 54-foot wooden yawl which had won the 1926 Bermuda Race with designer Alden at her helm and a schooner rig.

"Malabar VII," one of a dozen and a half boats personally owned by Alden at launching, was offered for sale by the Streeches who left her in Fort Lauderdale and returned to the West Coast, Dan to Dana Point where he began selling boats, and his dad to the family home in Arizona.

"This man who called himself Mike Selzer decided to buy our boat," Dan said, "and he'd looked at a lot of boats. He may have bought ours because we were willing to take his camper as a trade-in. This was about two months after Cooper had made his getaway from the airplane.

"Selzer drove his camper to my folks' home in Arizona, and they spent a lot of time visiting before he took off for Florida. My dad says Selzer mentioned he had worked as a smoke jumper."

Six weeks after Selzer delivered the camper "nearly new, with only 2,000 miles on it," Dan said the F.B.I. turned up at the Streech home "and the agents said the man we knew as Selzer fitted the description of Cooper perfectly. The F.B.I. men also said some of the money Cooper bailed out with had turned up in Las Vegas."

"Malabar VII" with new owner Mike Selzer has never turned up anywhere, Dan added.

BACK PACKING IN FRENCH POLYNESIA

Dan was on his way to the Tahiti airport after three weeks of hiking around the islands of Tahiti, Moorea, Huahine, Raiatea and Bora Bora with a back pack. He'd gone from one island to another as a passenger on the copra boat "Tapora III," hiking days and sleeping nights on the beaches. He said the land-crabs didn't chew on him (the local rumor that keeps visitors from camping on the beaches) and very few mosquitos took a bite: "I was taking Vitamins B 12 and B 6 and I understand if you do that, the mosquitos aren't interested. Anyway, I only got one or two bites a day."

He spent about $300 in three weeks (plus $750 round-trip air fare from Los Angeles) and most of the places where he camped were near native huts "and the Tahitians brought me food." He recalled buying "mostly bread, with lots of peanut butter and jelly."

In his back pack: a sleeping bag, a bedsheet, swim fins and mask, Sterno and freeze-dried food, one pair of long pants, one pair of cut-offs, a swim suit "and three or four shirts."

On Bora Bora, Dan spent two days reading a ship's log kept by Hans Fleish "at the Oa Oa, or perhaps you spell it Oahoa Hotel. Hans caters to visiting yachts and has free hot showers for boating people. Then he asks them to write about their voyages in his log. Some people even draw pictures. I couldn't stop reading about their experiences!"

A night at that hotel, with meals, is "about $20," Dan recalled. That's unusually reasonable in the outer islands, where a room or bungalow may run as high as $95 a night and the average is about $50 with two meals.

The best hotel-bargain has got to be a place in Tahiti near downtown Papeete where you pay 150 francs ($2.14) for a room. Unless you want a door, then it's 200 francs.

Across from the cruising boats on Papeete's waterfront is the Stegengal Hotel (about $10), a favorite among cruising people who want to get off their boats. At the opposite end of the spectrum are the big glassy high-rise hotels where you pay $50 and more to meet other tourists.

I stumbled into a happy compromise: the aging Te Puna Bel Air, a hotel four miles outside Papeete frequented by Americans and Europeans who visit Tahiti often. Quiet, charming and inexpensive by Tahiti standards (about $20-$22), it's sandwiched between two American-style luxury hotels and you can hike over to their white-sand beaches.

One of the charms of the Te Puna Bel Air is its inconsistencies: I met four women from Sacramento who were staying there and they had no hot water (I did), I had a wasp nest on my balcony (they didn't), they had ice in a refrigerator (I didn't) but I had a bottle of Scotch (they didn't). We pooled our resources and soon felt we had a luxury suite.

Also, we met island people who treat the hotel bar and restaurant as a local hangout. Two of us explored a nearby reef with American scuba divers who live in Tahiti, and while we snorkeled on the surface, they went down 190 feet and brought up black coral.

They called it coral whips, and it looked like wire coathangers someone had straightened out. They said it sells for about $300 a pound locally.

ISLAND-HOPPING BY BOAT

Inter-island freighters offer expeditions for visitors: one is a 40-day trip with stops at 116 islands and atolls, and it costs about $300. For the visitor on a brief vacation, John Stegengal of the schooner "Candide," four years out of Marina del Rey, suggested this one which he took:

"The 'Timi Hani,' a 150 foot diesel freighter, leaves Papeete every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. You sleep on deck with other travelers, including many Tahitians who sing and dance at night, and there are always people playing guitars.

"The freighter puts in a Huahini, Raiatea, Tahaa and Bora. Bora and you go ashore and buy food at the Chinese grocery stores that are always close to the docks. You cook on deck.

"The 'Timi Hani' brings you back to Papeete on Sunday or Monday and you have spent about 700 francs ($10) plus groceries for a week-long tour of some of the most beautiful islands in the South Pacific."

Re Seattle airtel to Bureau dated 5/12/76.

Contact with media outlets regarding requests as set forth in referenced airtel has determined that before media outlets will even consider printing a volume of serial numbers, the matter must be a current, constant highlight news interest (such as the first case), and must have a constant meaningful local interest to the readership.

There are no newspapers, magazines, or similar publications located within the Los Angeles Division that would be in a position to make space available to publish such a volume of serial numbers as involved in captioned case.

Re Seattle airtel to Bureau, 5/12/76.

There are no newspapers, magazines or similar publications located within the Los Angeles Division that would be in a position to make space available to publish such a volume of serial numbers listing as involved in captioned case.

Prior contact with media outlets regarding similar requests as set forth in referenced airtel has determined that before a media outlet will even consider printing a volume of serial numbers, the matter must be of current, constant highlight news interest (such as the first case) and must have a constant, meaningful local interest to the readership.

Re Complaint Form (FD-71) of SA [REDACTED]
dated 9/7/76.

A review of information furnished by LAPD Officer [REDACTED] in referenced FD-71 reveals the suspect referred to as [REDACTED] is probably identical to [REDACTED] who formerly resided at [REDACTED] California, with [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] was previously interviewed by SA [REDACTED] during investigation of [REDACTED] as a suspect in this matter in 1972. [REDACTED] photo was at that time displayed to witnesses and no identification was effected.

On 9/13/76, [REDACTED] was recontacted at her residence, [REDACTED] and advised she has not seen nor heard from [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] and [REDACTED] as she had advised during prior interview in 1972. She had never heard of [REDACTED] being referred to as [REDACTED]. She was of the opinion the information being furnished the FBI at this time is probably coming from a [REDACTED] name unrecalled, who [REDACTED] in [REDACTED]

This woman worked at [REDACTED] and knew she, [REDACTED] had talked to the FBI regarding [REDACTED] activities.

The facts furnished by Officer [REDACTED] closely parallel [REDACTED] circumstances in 1971-1972, however, are inaccurate and appear to be "playback" from someone who had talked with [REDACTED]

Officer [REDACTED] will be recontacted and advised of the results of interview of [REDACTED] on 9/13/76. He will be requested to ascertain from his source current location of [REDACTED] and if located, he should be interviewed. Otherwise, it does not appear additional investigation regarding [REDACTED] also known as [REDACTED] is warranted.

About noon, August 3, 1976, she stopped to eat lunch at Smokey Joe's restaurant located at the intersection of Goldwater Canyon Boulevard and Riverside Drive in the North Hollywood area. She was accompanied by two old and senile persons, [redacted] whom she had taken out for a ride and to lunch. While sitting in a booth at the restaurant, a couple came in and occupied an adjacent booth. She stated the couple appeared to be between 30 and 35 years of age, white, and the female was slender and blond. She was unable to further identify either the male or female as to clothing or other descriptive data.

Shortly after the couple seated themselves, they were joined by a lone white male whom she described as being between 27 and 30 years old, slender build, about 5'10" tall, with neat cut brown hair. She had not noticed the type of clothing this individual was wearing, but stated that he was not dressed in a shirt and tie nor was he dressed in work clothes as she would have taken notice in either instance. She stated she did not believe she could identify these persons if she saw them again.

She continued that upon arrival of the lone male they shook hands and talked as though they were old friends who had not seen each other for several years, and the man sitting with the blond female had inquired about [redacted]. This led to a discussion by the single male of [redacted] wherein he stated he believed [redacted] was responsible for the hijacking about five years ago. He also stated that [redacted] had talked to him about hijacking an airplane prior to the actual hijacking. He had spoken of requesting several parachutes and holding numerous hostages while demanding the ransom. The single male had indicated that he had worked with [redacted] in a local "shop" and about four days before the hijacking, [redacted]

Date of transcription 11/8/76

On the evening of November 3, 1976, [redacted] California, was transported from her residence to the medical offices of [redacted] Beverly Hills, California, by SA [redacted] was introduced to SA [redacted] She was apprised by SA [redacted] that the purpose of this interview was to attempt, through the use of hypnosis, to enable her to recall in specific detail a conversation she previously indicated she overheard on August 3, 1976.

b7C

[redacted] stated she would willingly cooperate and would voluntarily consent to being hypnotized by [redacted] in an effort to recall additional details regarding a conversation she believes concerned a crime under investigation by the FBI.

b6
b7C

She signed a handwritten document indicating she would voluntarily consent to interview after being placed under hypnosis by [redacted]

b6
b7C

She related as follows:

On August 3, 1976, she had taken an elderly couple, [redacted] to a doctor's office in North Hollywood, California. After this appointment, the three of them decided they would have lunch in the area and just prior to 11:00 a.m. they stopped at Smokey Joe's Restaurant at Riverside Drive and Coldwater Canyon in North Hollywood. Upon entering the restaurant, they were shown to a booth by a [redacted] Shortly after they were seated, a man and woman entered and were seated in the adjacent booth. A few moments after the couple was seated, a lone male joined them and seated himself in a position so he was back to back to [redacted] only several inches away from her.

Interviewed on 11/3/76 at Beverly Hills, California File # Los Angeles 164-497-869

b6

[redacted] stated the female was a Caucasian with short cut brown hair wearing a white blouse, blue jeans, neat appearing, and about [redacted] years old.

She described the lone male as a Caucasian, 6 feet tall, 160 pounds, slender build, light complexion, [redacted] years old, with medium cut brown hair. She stated the man had a small bushy mustache, did not wear glasses and had no noticeable [redacted]. He was clean shaven and neat appearing. He wore a sweat shirt with white and blue horizontal stripes with the white stripes being wider than the blue.

She furnished no description of the male who had accompanied the female other than he appeared about the same age as his two companions.

[redacted] stated she first became attracted to the conversation in the adjacent booth when she heard the female ask the lone male about a person named [redacted] who seemed to be a former close associate of the three persons. The lone male, in responding to her question regarding [redacted] made reference to a time when there had been a "whole raft of hijackings" and stated at this time [redacted] was working, either with or for, the lone male. [redacted] had spoken about these hijackings with the lone male and told him how he would hijack an airplane successfully. [redacted] had spoken of demanding four or five parachutes and holding hostages, however, [redacted] could recall no mention being made of any ransom demand. She did recall [redacted] expertise in skydiving being discussed and the comment made that he could "land on a dime". The lone male stated that [redacted] had left his employment in his Land Rover about four or five days prior to the hijacking and returned about five days after the hijacking had occurred. [redacted] had returned and then left and went to some unknown location where he went into business by himself. She also specifically recalls the lone male stating the statute of limitations would soon run on the crime [redacted] had committed.

[redacted] could recall no names of any persons, other than [redacted] as having been mentioned and stated she could recall no mention being made of the nature of the work of the three persons involved in the conversation nor of the type of work which [redacted] and the lone male were involved in prior to [redacted] departure. She could recall no specific locations, cities or places, as having been mentioned in the conversation other than a reference made to "Northwestern" during the discussion.

b7c

She continued stating she assumed from the portions of the conversation she overheard, which lasted about one-half hour, that none of the three persons had been in contact with [redacted] for a long time. Statements made by the lone male indicated [redacted] had made no admissions after the hijacking to him. The lone male had stated the way [redacted] had described he would commit the hijacking before leaving was just exactly the way the hijacking had been perpetrated and since [redacted] was an excellent skydiver, he believed he had committed the crime.

[redacted] recalled that the [redacted] at Smokey Joe's who had waited on [redacted] and herself had also waited on the three persons in the adjacent booth. She recalled the persons in the adjacent booth had ordered only coffee. She described the [redacted] as a [redacted] female Caucasian, about [redacted] years old, and having [redacted] [redacted]. She added this [redacted] had also taken the money at the cash register as they departed.

ReButel, 11/1/76, authorizing use of hypnosis in interview of [redacted] California, to enhance her memory of an August, 1976, conversation regarding a skyjacking believed to involve NORJAK.

[redacted] was interviewed under hypnosis on 11/3/76 by [redacted] at his office in Beverly Hills, California. The information [redacted] had previously furnished was then reviewed with her in detail and she supplied essentially the same information about the August, 1976, conversation she had given earlier in the investigation.

Old Skyjack Indictment In

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury late Wednesday returned an air piracy indictment in the case of the man known as Dan Cooper who parachuted from an airliner with $200,000 on Thanksgiving Eve in 1971, the Justice Department announced.

The indictment, naming a fictitious "John Doe also known as Dan Cooper," was returned in Portland, Ore.

An official familiar with the case said the indictment was obtained by the government as a precaution because of uncertainty over whether the five-year statute of limitations applied in the aerial hijacking case.

One count of the indictment charges aircraft piracy, and a second alleges obstruction of interstate commerce by extortion.

Both the Justice Department and the FBI say there are several reasons why the normal statute of limitations would not seem to apply. Although they doubt he survived, they say they will look for Cooper and the money until they find him or determine that he is dead.

The Justice Department takes the position that there is no statute of limitations on capital crimes, and that what Cooper did was a capital crime, punishable by death, at the time he did it.

The official in Washington noted that a Justice Department attempt earlier this year to prosecute New Jersey Teamster leader Anthony Provenzano and others in connection with the 1961 kidnapping of another union official was thrown out of court by a federal judge who ruled that the statute of limitation had expired a decade ago.

The indictment of the man identified as Cooper is primarily an attempt to prevent such a problem in the hijacking case, he said.

There has been no trace of Cooper or the money since that windy, wet, stormy night when he bailed out the rear door of a Northwest Airlines 727 jet with 21 pounds of money strapped to his chest.

"Not one of the 10,000 bills has shown up, and we know the serial numbers on every one of them," says FBI agent Ralph Himmelsbach, who has worked on the case from the outset.

Cooper had boarded a Portland-to-Seattle flight Nov. 24, 1971, clutching a paper bag. Soon after take off, he told stewardesses he had a bomb, and that he wanted $200,000 in cash and four parachutes.

Cooper's demands were met and, on his orders, the plane departed for Reno with only himself and the crew on board.

D.B. Cooper, Where Are You?

By JOE FRAZIER
Associated Press Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. — A miserably wet, windy, cold Thanksgiving eve in 1971.

Passengers waited at the Northwest Orient Airlines counter at Portland International Airport to book space on Flight 105 to Seattle.

Many thought ahead to family reunions, turkey dinners, long relaxed conversations and perhaps a traditional game of bridge or Monopoly later.

But one didn't.

Dan Cooper paid cash for his ticket, then, clutching a paper sack, boarded the Boeing 727 for the 30-minute flight.

A few minutes after the plane nosed into the storm, he made his move. He showed the stewardess what he said was a dynamite bomb and demanded four parachutes, $200,000 in $20 bills, and "no funny stuff."

All the passengers but Cooper got off at Seattle, unaware that anything was amiss.

The money and parachutes were put on board and the jet, with only the crew and Cooper aboard, headed for Reno on Cooper's orders.

Then somewhere over southwest Washington, Cooper, with the 21 pounds of money strapped to him, bailed out.

He hasn't been heard from since.

If he's alive, and that's a big "if," the five-year statute of limitations runs out this Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 21.

"Or does it?"
"We're going ahead on the assumption that the statute doesn't apply, because when he did what he did, capital punishment was a possibility. There's no statute on capital crimes," says FBI agent Ralph Himmelsbach.

Anyway, he says, chances are good that Cooper is dead. "Not one of the 10,000 bills has shown up, and we know the serial number of every one of them," he said. And Cooper apparently knew nothing about skydiving.

In a business suit and street shoes, he jumped from the rear door of a jet going 197 m.p.h. at 10,000 feet. At that elevation it was seven below zero that night, with a wind-chill factor of 69 below zero.

The plane was in clouds. "Up looked like down to him. He had no visual reference. He couldn't have possibly known where he was."

Cooper picked some of the roughest country in the Pacific Northwest.

He took two of the four parachutes with him when he jumped. One was a small emergency chute of the type used by stunt fliers. Under ideal conditions, someone who knew what he was doing might break an ankle or leg with it.

The other was a training chute used for demonstrations. The panels had been sewn shut. It wouldn't have opened.

The next night the FBI reenacted the skyjacking using the same plane, crew, fuel load, speed and altitude. The test helped flight engineers and meteorologists to compute the probably drop zone to be a trapezoidal area covering about 25 square miles.

It has been searched and re-searched in vain.

What would it take to find Cooper's remains, assuming they are there?

"I'd say it might take 5,000 years. I mean, how do you search a blackberry higher than your cats who work in the grove that coyotes, in lions or wild dogs take quick work of a body. After five years, they say, you might find a scrap or two of bone, if that.

Nevertheless, for a while Cooper was a folk hero of sorts.

He was macho. He was daring. He didn't hurt anybody, but he ripped off a big corporation. And he beat the fuzz.

There were imitators. Around the world, there were more than a dozen skyjacking attempts patterned after Cooper's. Cooper is the only one not known to have failed.

With increased airport security and modification of the Boeing 727 so the rear door wouldn't open in flight, the fad stopped.

The flow of clues, hints, and tips from the public about Dan Cooper has slowed to a trickle now. After checking out more than 1,600 suspects, the FBI says it knows little more about Cooper than it did on that stormy night when he leapt into history.

Himmelsbach said the whole thing was probably put together with minimal planning and that the bomb was a bundle of relatively harmless highway flares. The bomb was red. Dynamite isn't. If the crew members had realized that, they might have called his bluff at the time, Himmelsbach said. "He's lucky he got as far as he did with a plan like that."

Even if the statute holds up, Cooper will have problems.

The Internal Revenue Service computes his tax debt, including penalties and interest, at about $198,000. And the Globe Indemnity Co., which had to pay $180,000 to the airline, may want to talk to him.

So now, what?

"We have to accept the possibility that we may never know," Himmelsbach said. "I guess we can live with that we have to."

COFFELT worked on a commission basis and on occasion he would leave from work without notice and return some months later saying he had taken a medical course somewhere in the Midwest. She said [redacted]

[redacted] hired COFFELT back because he was a smooth talker and a good salesman. She, however, considered him a phony because she never believed he was taking medical courses. She was unaware of any of COFFELT's private life, his associates or hobbies.

She did recall, however, that at one time COFFELT showed up at the furniture store driving a Cadillac limousine. He was in the company of an elderly man. It appeared to her that COFFELT was acting as a chauffeur for the elderly gentleman. He also was attempting to sell him some old furniture since the elderly man was interested in antiques. She was unable to recall any additional information about the incident.

She described COFFELT as follows:

Hon. Clarence M. Kelley, Director

Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D.C., 20535

Dear Sir:

Glad to know you are still on the job. I do hope your health remains good.

Last Saturday I called on the Bureau at the Federal Bldg. in West Los Angeles. I was met with, "Do you have an appointment?" Eventually a polite, young lady agent by the name of [redacted] spoke to me and took what information I had at that time. She explained that the agent who handled the case was not on duty but that he would call on me at my home. I now have more complete information and would like to dispose of the matter.

b7c

Because the Bureau seemed very busy, I wonder if I could be of assistance in a volunteer capacity. My experience and training has run along the lines of police work, as has yours, except that I have not risen to Chief as you did. I am in good health, 66 years old, a native of Calif. and with ancestors in the U.S.A. since the 17th century. In 1940 I successfully passed the L.A.P.D. Policewoman examination but did not get an appointment as only 10 were selected and I was number 30 at the time of the examination. However, I have done work in that line and also as a store operative -- mostly at Christmas time. I have also worked in the City Schools, a University, as a Church Secretary and can make myself useful around an office.

May I hear from you?

Sincerely,

In reply to your letter of March 24th, although your offer to be of assistance to this Bureau is appreciated, we do not use voluntary help. Additionally, the FBI has no part-time or summer employment available as we are able to recruit a sufficient number of permanent employees to meet our needs.
